To whom it may concern:

It is my pleasure to write in support of Mr. Billy Bowin, whom I have known for two years in my capacity as Director at Tarsus American College in southern Turkey.

As my experience with him has revealed, Mr. Bowin is well versed in all aspects of technology from server management to end-user software implementation. Although he was not employed at the school (his wife is Head of Science), he has impressed me with his willingness to help both me and other international teachers living on campus. He is quick to analyze hardware and software issues, can offer a variety of solutions, and is consistently patient with those not fluent in the detailed use of computer technology. In addition, Billy has helped assess, problem-solve and reduce the impact of some of the existing limitations in the school's network.

He is extremely proficient in both IBM and Apple platforms and can trouble- shoot a multitude of technical problems. Among our teachers, Billy has not only been the go-to tech support person for hardware and software issues, he is also capable of instructing teachers regarding maximizing their software's capability and efficiency. Billy immerses himself in the newest developments and is continually engaged in the search for new and better ways to apply technology.

I have no hesitation in recommending him for a position in an IT department, and also believe he would be effective in mentoring and supporting teachers. Given what I know of his background as an instructor, he would likely be successful in teaching IT classes as well. In whichever capacity he is hired, his employer will be able to rely on Mr. Bowin's honesty, his direct and open communication, and effectiveness in searching for creative solutions to IT challenges faced by his school.

Sincerely,

Robert Mallett

To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing this letter on behalf of Billy Bowin. I have been working with Billy for the past 10 years. During this time we've developed many different creations. As the graphic artist for the Arts Academy of Hollywood, Billy had created countless projects including but not limited to; ads for magazines and newspapers, flyers and postcards, logos for the school, departments and performing groups, programs, ads, directories, business cards, websites and more. Billy is talented. He is creative and understands what is entailed in marketing an arts organization. Billy enjoys the challenge of developing new and vibrant graphics.

Design is not Billy's only talent. He shares his love for the arts through his teaching. Billy teaches children of all ages, and abilities. He brings out the artist in every child through many mediums including drawing, painting, collage, mosaics, ceramics, murals and computer graphics. He is loved by his students as well as the staff that has the opportunity to work with him. When Billy is teaching, he's like a kid. You can see he is completely indulged in what he is doing. He is involved in the processes and experiences of each and every student.

Billy takes great pride in all he does. He is a pleasure to work with. I'm fortunate to have the opportunity to work with such a dedicated, professional and talented person.

Creatively yours,

To whom it may concern,

I cannot speak highly enough of Billy Bowin. He was my son's music teacher for two years, when my son was 10-11 years old.

If I had to describe Billy in three words, I would choose: caring, trustworthy, and creative.

My son would look so forward to his music lessons, as Billy was a very engaging teacher. I would hire Billy again in an instant if he still lived in Florida. We miss his weekly lessons, and credit Billy with our son's love of music. He is still playing in the band that Billy helped prepare for their first ever concert.

Billy has a very good rapport with kids. He treats them with respect and understanding. I believe that Billy will excel in any position working with children.

Have a nice day,
